

Jeffrey Snyder, soloist

Jeffrey Snyder is currently a member of the Symphony Tacoma trumpet section. He has performed with the San Diego Symphony, Seattle Symphony, Oregon Symphony, Spokane Symphony, Eugene Symphony, Portland Opera, and the Oregon Ballet Theatre. A versatile performer, Mr. Snyder has played for Ray Charles, the Legend of Zelda Symphony Tour, The Temptations, Kenny Rogers, Chicago, Cheap Trick, Patti LaBelle, Ben E. King, Maureen McGovern, Judy Collins, Jackie Evancho, Al Jarreau, and the touring Broadway musical Damn Yankees, starring Jerry Lewis. He is also a member of the Portland Brass Quintet and can be heard performing for the Portland Christmas Revels each December. Mr. Snyder received music degrees from Florida State University, Washington State University, and a performance diploma from the New England Conservatory of Music. He has studied with Gerald Webster, Bryan Goff, Edward H. Tarr, and Charles Schlueter, principal trumpet of the Boston Symphony.

For over 30 years, Mr. Snyder has worked for Monette Corporation helping build some of the best and most innovative trumpets in the world. In this capacity he has tested prototype instruments, assisting Mr. Monette, for Wynton Marsalis, Charles Schlueter, Maynard Ferguson, Terence Blanchard, Ingrid Jensen, Ron Miles, Manny Laureano, and others. Since 2014, Mr. Snyder has been Professor of Trumpet at Clark College in Vancouver.